OF LOCAL INTEREST

BLACKBIRD DANCE—A. E. Cobb's novelty Blackbird dance, postponed some time ago on account of the weather, will be given Tuesday night.

A CHAUTAUQUA LECTURER—Mr. James L. Himrod, manager of the Phoenix Chautauqua this morning received a telegram from Kate Tupper Galpin at Ash Fork saying she would arrive in Phoenix at 7 o'clock this morning.

N. G. A. INITIATION—The young ladies of the N. G. A. club held a meeting last night in Veterans' hall during which nine members were initiated into the mysteries of that very secretive organization. The initiation was followed by a banquet.

PIANO RECITAL—Mr. Elmer A. Todd will give a piano recital at the Arizona school of music Tuesday evening, March 14. Mr. Todd will be assisted by Mr. Karl Cochens and the program will begin at 8:30 o'clock. All lovers of good music are invited.

BUT LITTLE MAIL—The Santa Fe train arrived yesterday morning a little late and bringing only local mail and a little from California. There was no connection with the west bound mail trains at Ash Fork. The Maricopa line is of course still out of business and probably will be for several days as the last break in the bridge was a big one.

A CHICAGO VISITOR—Mr. A. J. Miller of Chicago has been here for some time and expects to remain a while longer. He is stopping at the residence of J. F. Jackson, No. 444 east Adams street. Mr. Miller is a financier and is a man of considerable wealth. He is greatly impressed with the country and it is hoped may be induced to view it favorably from an investment standpoint.

BASEBALL TODAY—A controversy has arisen between the Phoenix Juniors and the Phoenix Mexican Athletic baseball teams. An argument was held last Sunday in which ten dollars was involved and the Mexicans got the money. Another debate will be held this afternoon as the former decision was not all-satisfying and there will be another ten dollar piece in jeopardy. Today's dispute will be pulled off on the Polk street grounds in Churchill addition at 2:30 o'clock.

The Orpheus society concert Tuesday evening, March 21, at Dorris theater. Reserved seats 50 cents.

Just received by Mrs. Aylin new line of switches, pompadours, etc. Hair dressing parlors, No. 11 S. Center, room 15.

ENDING IN A RUSH Close of the Last Full Legislative Week

An Avalanche in Both Houses of Eleventh Hour Bills—House Authorizes Buckley O'Neill Monument.

The legislature is feeling the pressure of the last days and an effort to make up for the days spent earlier in the term is going on. Both houses held long sessions yesterday, the house being continued into the early evening. There was a prospect that a night meeting would be held but the notion was abandoned. No doubt those nocturnal sessions will be inaugurated on Monday night and kept up until the close.

Yesterday was the last day when bills could be brought in except by unanimous consent. Many of the members availed themselves of the fleeting opportunity and some of the bills were hurried through to third reading under suspension of the rules.

It was brought out in the house yesterday that the democratic members are opposed to railroads only in campaign seasons. This was developed in the course of the slaughter of Mr. Wilson's bill making it a crime for any one except a bona fide employee to accept a railroad pass. The bill was defeated after a debate in which the parties were straightly lined up. Speaker Webb said that he was opposed to the measure for the reason that he did not think it would be right to take away from succeeding legislatures a privilege which this and all preceding legislatures had enjoyed—that of riding on free passes. The speaker said that he knew of at least one member of the present legislature who had accepted that courtesy from the railroads. Mr. Wilson replied that he knew of one who did not. He believed that the giving of a pass was a preliminary bribe. Mr. Neville did not take that severe view of it. Whatever the railroad might have in mind in the giving, the member who accepted might be innocent. As for him, the declared and consistent enemy of corporate power, he believed it was the proper thing to avail one's self of the sustenance of the enemy.

An unfavorable report on the bill was adopted by the following vote: Ayes—Bailey, Barker, Cobb, Collins, Gardiner, Hall, Keating, Krueger, Neville, Patterson, Perkins, Pomeroy, Strong, Timmons and the speaker, all democrats, 15; three of the democratic members being out of the room. Nays—Anderson, Bristol, Davis, Kennedy, Pickrell and Wilson, all republicans, 6.

ROUGH RIDER MONUMENT.
The house late in the day passed the bill authorizing the appropriation of $10,000 for the building of a Rough Rider monument in memory of Captain W. O. O'Neill at Prescott. The bill had been favorably reported and when it was called up for third reading Mr. Wilson moved its reference to a committee in order that he might offer an amendment. He desired to say that he was opposed to any expression of the territory's regard for the memory of Buckley O'Neill. He had known him long and loved him. He would yield to no Arizonian in his admiration for that hero. But it seemed to him that nothing could be more nonsensical than the raising of a column of stone to the heroic dead. He would, however, amend the bill, substituting for the monument, a Buckley O'Neill Home at Prescott for the destitute of the territory. He believed that if the generous soul of Buckley O'Neill could look down upon the world it would be afforded greater gratification by the sight of a home around which the children were playing and in which the poor and homeless were sheltered, than at the sight of a meaningless pile of stone foolishly erected to his memory. The address of General Wilson drew wild applause from the floor and the galleries.

Mr. Anderson replied in a most eloquent tribute to the memory of Arizona's most favorite and dead son. He implored the house not to cowardly destroy the bill by strangling it in the committee of the whole. If those opposed to it desired to kill it let them come out into the open as Buckley O'Neill had done on fire swept San Juan hill, that fatal day.

Mr. Barker moved to amend the amendment of Mr. Wilson by a provision that the monument contemplated in the bill should be erected on the capitol grounds. This motion was seconded by the speaker, who said that Buckley O'Neill did not belong to Yavapai county alone; he was not Buckley O'Neill of Prescott, but Buckley O'Neill of Arizona. Other speakers in behalf of the bill as it had come from the committee were Mr. Strong and Mr. Haught.

The Barker amendment was overwhelmingly defeated. So was the Wilson amendment, and the roll call proceeded on the bill. No man vote was cast against it and when Mr. Wilson was reached he said that this was not the way he would have preferred to honor the memory of Buckley O'Neill but since there was no other way he would vote for the bill.

SONORA REGISTRATION BILL.
House bill No. 133, contrary to the expectation of some of the members of the council, passed that body yesterday. This is the bill which provides that persons temporarily residing in a country foreign to the United States and adjoining the territory of Arizona and being qualified voters of this territory might return to the nearest precinct within it and vote. This bill was drawn for the benefit of many Americans who happened to be employed at Cananea and other Mexican towns near the border. The bill passed the council by a single vote.

The bill amending the law relating to cruelty to animals by forbidding exhibitions of steer tying was lost on a vote but President Hunt gave notice that he would move for a reconsideration of the vote.

The Pickrell house bill introduced and passed in the house the day before prohibiting the establishing of sheep camps within a mile of a town or a home ranch and otherwise protecting the cattle interests against the incursions of sheep was taken up and passed.

A substitute for house bill No. 69 relating to the collection of taxes was passed. The main object of this bill is to repeal the Andrews law by giving boards of supervisors the power to make compromises for the settlement of disputes over taxes.

Among other bills passed were the following: In relation to the feeding of county prisoners; authorizing the employment of assistant clerks of boards of supervisors and deputy treasurers in counties of the first class; relating to the working of prisoners on the public highways; the house memorial for the extension of the Black Mesa forest reserve.

A message was received from the governor in which he stated that he had disapproved Mr. Nugent's bill concerning the use of railroad tracks. The veto was unanimously sustained.

Among the bills introduced were the following:

By Mr. Nugent, for the protection of the traveling public.

By Mr. Roemer, relating to the dissection of courts in sentencing juveniles.

By Mr. Webb, for the creation of the office of territorial statistician.

By Mr. Krueger, a bill limiting actions for the establishment and protection of rights to the use of water for beneficial purposes against one who has had continued use of the water for a period of eight years.
